(a) Three-hundred-and-ten Letters from Charles Lever, dating from the year 1852 to 1872, addressed to his wife, his daughter Julia and to Charles Saunders. (b) Correspondence from his friends, a large and very interesting Collection, including Letters addressed to him by W. M. Thackeray (2), who writes under date of June 27, 1859, "..... I have heard from Smith & Elder who are quite willing to treat with you, but are afraid that your terms may be too high. They don't know what they are, nor does your humble servant. And Bradbury & Evans dined with us on Friday and they also are willing to treat. You don't know perhaps that I leave them (we remain perfect good friends) and go over to Smith & Elder"; T. Carlyle, Lord Macaulay, Maria Edgeworth, C. Dickens (25), including two from which the signatures have been removed, THE WHOLE COVERING ABOUT 40 PP. * * The above Letters, etc. which do not appear in "Charles Lever, his Life and his Letters," recently published by Mr. Downey, would furnish matter for an interesting continuation to these volumes.

- * * ORIGINAL AND RAREST EDITION. Erondell was a fashionable French teacher of Shakespeare's time, and the author of quite a small library of manuals of instruction for his own pupils and the public generally in the principles of the French tongue, and some at least of his multifarious labours must have passed under our great Poet's eyes. Erondell's educational works are frequently referred to by Douce and the various editors of Shakespeare. The present is a remarkably fine copy.

Several of the stanzas, or portions of them, are rewritten, and in the case of stanzas 17 and 74 there are two different versions. A collation with Buxton Forman's edition of Keats' Works also reveals other variations from the poem as there printed. It was written during November and December, 1819, but Keats never finished it, therefore no complete manuscript exists.

- 238 Cervantes. Vida, y Hechos del ingenioso Cavallero Don Quixote de la Mancha... Nueva Edición, etc. 2 vol. old calf Madrid, 1750
- * * This interleaved copy of Don Quixote is apparently the working copy of J. Bowle, from which he compiled the annotations to his edition of 1781. It is literally crammed with notes in Bowle's autograph. This copy of Don Quixote did not appear in the sale catalogue of his library. For the reason that it is so profusely annotated, and being to all intents the original draft of Bowle's annotations to his edition, it is not possible to compare it with any other known copy of Don Quixote. In 1781 he published an edition of Don Quixote, in 6 vol. 4to, wholly in Spanish, printed partly in London and partly at Salisbury. The text occupies the first four volumes, the remainder being filled with annotations and indices. His work was coldly received in England, but met with an enthusiastic reception in Spain.

The comedies commence with : As You Like It (with Mrs. Jordan as Rosalind); and continuing there are All's Well that Ends Well (with Kemble as Bertram, and Mrs. Jordan as Helena). Much Ado about Nothing (with Kemble as Benedick, Miss Farren as Beatrice, and Mrs. Kemble as Hero). Merchant of Venice (with Kemble as Shylock, and Mrs. Siddons as Portia). Measure for Measure (with Kemble as the Duke, and Mrs. Siddons as Isabella). Twelfth Night (with Mrs. Jordan as Viola). Tempest (with Bensley as Prospero, Mrs. Crouch as Miranda, and Miss Farren as Dorinda). Among the Farces is one entitled All the World's a Stage. The leading characters in the casts of all the Tragedies, Comedies, Operas and Farces mentioned are given in the present manuscript.

255 TURENNE. AUTOGRAPH LETTERS OF MARÉCHAL DE TURENNE; also of Erlach, gouverneur de Brisach, of Tracy, of Oysonville, of la Clavière, of de Chastenoy, of Brienne, of de la Touche, du Hallier and de Longueville, etc. 3 vol. in the original vellum binding folio. 1643-1649

* * This MOST SPLENDID Collection of Letters of the great Turenne, formerly in the possession of the Erlach family at Spietz, was thus described in the catalogue of the Erlach collections:

“Le premier recueil (février 1643—février 1649) contient 150 Lettres, dont 100 Lettres de Turenne. Les autres, d'Erlach, de Tracy, du baron d'Oysonville, de Champlastreux, Brachet, Montausier, Wolff Dietrich de Feld, Bienvenuat, général major Rose, etc. Toutes ces lettres ont trait aux affaires d'Allemagne (et d'Espagne) et sont, pour la plupart, adressées au général major d'Erlach, gouverneur de Brisach en Brisgau.

“Sur les 100 lettres de Turenne, 36 sont entièrement autographs. Voici la teneur de quelques lettres:

“M. de Turenne écrit de Brisach à M. d'Erlach, le 20 décembre 1643, pour le prier d'acquiescer à la requête de M. de Tracy, n'y ayant personne en France de qui la Reyne ait une plus entière confiance. M. de Tur. écrit à Bâle, au mois de janvier 1644, après son retour de Lauffenbourg, pour rendre compte à M. d'Erlach de son voyage, il a trouvé la garnison de cette ville bien faible et demande avis à M. d'Erlach. Lettre de Turenne du 9 février 1644, touchant la demolition de Waldshout. Lettre, écrite de Remiremont, le 27 février 1644, touchant le pourvoyement des villes forestières. Lettre écrite le 15 avril 1644, par laquelle M. de Turenne informe M. d'Erlach que le traité du duc Charles s'avance en cour. M. de Turenne écrit de Colmar, le 9 mars 1644, qu'il désire que M. d'Erlach le vienne trouver à Brisach. M. de Tur. donne avis par sa lettre du 14 avril 1644, qu'il viendra à Brisach et désire qu'un mortier avec des bombes soit envoyé de Brisach à Tanne. M. de Tur. mande de Remiremont le 25 avril 1644, qu'il est indisposé d'une fièvre continue. Lettre datée de Remiremont, le 26 avril 1644, touchant le logement du régiment Mazarin en Alsace. Lettre du 28 avril 1644, touchant le dessein que les ennemis pourraient avoir de descendre contre les villes forestières. M. de Turenne (Remiremont, 6 mai) envoie 3 pièces de canon à Tanne et le stalmeister de l'artillerie pour prendre quartier à Herlesheim. Lettre datée de Remiremont 6 mai 1644, au sujet de la sédition arrivée dans Brisach. M. de Tur. écrit d'Anou, le 9 mai, qu'il vient à Brisach. M. de Tur. envoie le 13 juin 1644 à M. d'Erlach, la relation du combat en Catalogne. Suit la relation, envoyée par M. de la Motte, du combat de Catalogne qui s'est fait, le 15 mai, proche la ville de Lérída. M. de Tur. envoie son page pour savior au vray l'état de Fribourg (lettre écrite de Turquem, le 27 juin 1644).

M. de Tur. mande de Turquem, le même jour, qu'il a donné ordre à son armée de s'assembler pour le secours de Fribourg. M. de Tur. demande que le capitaine de Spore, prisonnier, soit renvoyé au camp des ennemis, en échange du capitaine Tungen (19 juillet 1644). Lettre de M. de Tracy, écrite de Strasbourg, le 2 septembre 1644, au sujet de la lettre du roi qui ordonne, qu'on fasse des feux de joie pour la prise de Gravelines. M. de Tur. demande avec instance, de Saverne, le 16 janvier 1646, à M. d'Erlach—et 'par delà une première demande'—qu'il veuille bien 'accomoder le régiment de Witkenstein dans le marquisat de Rethelen.' M. de Tur. écrit d'Etlingen, le 22 juillet 1647, qu'il a fait arrêter M. de Rosen, au dit Etlingen. Lettre écrite de Heilbronn, le 12 août 1647, en faveur de M. Plato. Lettre écrite de Hoehot, le 12 décembre 1647, au sujet de la rupture de Bavière. Lettre d'Erlach à Turenne au sujet du capitaine de la Motte qu'il a fait mettre en arrêt. Réponse de Turenne sur la dite affaire (écrite de Tubingen, décembre 1648). Les dernières lettres de Turenne sont écrites de Tubingen (janvier et février 1649) et concernent l'approvisionnement des compagnies de Bondorff et les ordres que le maréchal a donnés pour faire cesser les mutineries des dites compagnies.

"LE SECOND RECUEIL (janvier-avril 1649) contient 210 lettres, à savoir la correspondance de MM. d'Erlach, de la Clavière, Le Duchat, de Beaussan, de Tracy, de Chastenoy, de Brienne, Vte. de Courval, de la Chappelle, baron de Scey, de la Ferté, La Flotos, Douglas, de Lamet, de La Touche, Kormann, de la Renaudière, de Saint-Colombe, Smitberg, Granier de Saint-Jean, Philippe Bez, Taupatel, Rochlinger, etc. . . . Et plusieurs copies de lettres de Mazarin et du Roi (Louis XIV).

"Ces lettres sont, toutes, relatives aux agissements de Turenne, au début de la Fronde ; elles nous exposent—dans leur ensemble, et par leur signification—la part que prit Turenne à l'insurrection du Parlement, pendant ce trimestre 1649.

"Le maréchal de Turenne a donné ordre aux troupes de l'armée d'Allemagne de marcher, quoiqu'il n'y en ait point de la cour qui l'y oblige. Il fait état de passer le Rhin vers Spire, Mayence ou Philipsbourg. M. d'Erlach demande avec instance à M. de la Chappelle qu'on s'oppose à ce passage, qu'on cherche à en 'degoûter' adroitement les Allemands, leur représentant la lâcheté qu'on leur voudrait faire commettre. M. d'Erlach se plaint vivement de M. de Turenne à M. de l'Hospital. Le maréchal proteste de demeurer au service du Roi et jusques à présent nous n'avions rien vu de contraire à cela, mais l'assemblée de ses troupes, sa marche et quelques autres circonstances le rendent extrêmement suspect. Je souhaite pour le bien du service du roi qu'il demeure dans le devoir. D'autre part M. Straum fait savoir à madame la Landgrave que M. le maréchal de Turenne s'est laissé entraîner par son frère le duc de Bouillon et intéresser dans les troubles de France de sorte qu'il cherche tous les moyens pour debaucher l'armée du Roi et s'en servir contre Sa Majesté . . . comme de fait il se dispose à aller en France, et l'on ignore si son dessein ne pourrait être encore plus dangereux, d'entreprendre une conjonction avec le duc Charles ou autres ennemis de Sa Majesté pour jeter le royaume en confusion et abaisser l'autorité royale. Mazarin est averti, et il declare par une lettre au général major (dont copie ci-incluse) qu'il est éclairci de ce dont il n'avait encore que des doutes. Le maréchal a pris parti avec le Parlement contre le Roi. Il ne doute point que le maréchal de Turenne n'en ait un sensible déplaisir et qu'il soit le premier à le détester. Il sait 'que le sieur maréchal aime trop l'Etat et sa réputation et qu'il a trop d'amitié pour lui, pour que le Cardinal puisse apprehender qu'il y veuille prendre aucune part.' Cependant M. de Rumigny a été député pour les négociations, M. d'Erlach en écrit à M. de la Ferté. M. de Rumigny, dit-il, a été envoyé vers M. de Turenne pour l'assurer de la part du Roi qu'on lui donnerait toute la satisfaction qu'il pourrait désirer. Son voyage a été infructueux, ne l'ayant du disposer à accepter les offres qu'il avait chargé de lui faire. Il m'a confirmé à son retour les différents avis que nous avons eus de plusieurs parts, que, nonobstant que M. de Turenne n'ait aucun ordre de marcher, il a dirigé les troupes vers Spire dont il s'est rendu maître. Il en réfère au Cardinal. 'Je lui ai adressé, une seconde fois, M. de Rumigny, dit-il vu la bonne volonté de Son Eminence à l'égard de M. de Turenne et bien qu'il ne croie pas que ce second voyage fasse plus d'effet que le premier. . . .'

Il envoie M. du Tot au cardinal pour lui rendre compte de la première négociations 'lequel dira à votre Eminence Mgr. comme je fais tout ce que le juge avantageux dans les circonstances présentes et que j'amasse mes troupes pour être prêtes quand je saurai que M. de Turenne passera le Rhin. Nous avons toujours caché jusque à présent, autant que nous avons pu, la juste défiance qu'il donne de soy. Mais je vous avoue, Monseigneur qu'il me semble qu'il eût été bon de las pas celer si longtemps . . . l'on eût désabusé tant les officiers que les soldats de l'armée, leur déclarant hautement que la marche qu'il leur veut faire faire sous prétexte du bien du service du Roy est entièrement contraire aux ordres de sa Majesté et aux ordres qu'il en a reçus.' Le roi donne définitivement le commandement de son armée général d'Erlach. 'Les avis certains que j'ai eus que le maréchal de Turenne s'est engagé contre mon service dans le parti pour lequel le duc de Bouillon son frère s'est déclaré par deça, m'obligent à donner ordre . . . qu'il ne soit plus reconnu de mon armée d'Allemagne ni suivi d'aucune troupe . . . je donne mes ordres sur ce qui sera à faire pour mon service en cette occasion au sieur d'Erlach, gouverneur de Brisach et mon lieutenant général en mon armée d'Allemagne en 'l'absence du dit maréchal.' Mais les difficultés se sont accumulées. Le général major s'en plaint amèrement. 'Les troupes sont si mal disciplinées, dit celui-ci, que la plupart du temps, elles ne font que ce qui leur plaît, et à toutes les heures il faut ouïr des plaintes du mauvais traitement qu'elles disent recevoir, et M. de Turenne les a si bien entretenues dans ce dégoût et le libertinage, qu'il sera bien malaisé de les en desaccoutumer . . . de sorte que lorsqu'elles entreront en France, il ne pourra être que ce ne soit avec un très grand désordre et à la ruine des lieux où elles passeront et si elles ne trouvent à subsister, il est à craindre quelque révolte et autre chose de pis. Je ne laisserai pas de travailler de mon côté à ramener ces esprits égarés, mais il sera besoin que de la cour on leur donne quelque consentement . . . toutes choses sont dans la confusion, les régiments extrêmement séparés . . .’ Le recueil se termine sur ces situations respectives du maréchal de Turenne et du baron d’Erlach.

“LE TROISIÈME RECUEIL (1642-1647) contient 80 lettres de M. de Hallier et du duc de Longueville, la plupart relatives aux négociations de Munster. La mauvaise volonté des Espagnols pendant les négociations ressort manifestement de la correspondance diplomatique du duc de Longueville. Les états sont quasi d’accord en toutes choses avec l’Espagne mais toujours sous condition de ne rien faire que la France ne soit contente. Ce qui déplaît aux Espagnols, qui ne pouvant oublier leurs anciennes coutumes et étant nécessités de faire la paix, voudraient laisser des semences d’une future division (de Munster janvier 1647). Les Espagnols font courir les bruits en divers lieux qu’ils sont comme d’accord avec nous et s’en servent en Flandre pour donner courage aux peuples en leur faisant espérer une prochaine paix, mais quand il faut ici convenir des conditions, ils cherchent à prolonger et ne s’étudient qu’à obscurcir et embrouiller les affaires. Pour moi je leur ai fait déclarer que leurs Majestés avaient très bonne disposition à la paix, mais qu’ils la voulaient ‘sûre’ et ‘de durée’ (de Munster, avril 1647). L’Espagne demeure dans le dessein de séparer, si elle le peut, nos alliés d’avec nous et, si elle est obligée de faire un traité, de la rendre obscur et ambigu (de Munster, mai 1647). Et ailleurs . . . les Espagnols emploient toute leur industrie à traverser le traité. . . . Il n’y a que l’Espagne qui a peine de se résoudre aux bons conseils, n’ayant eu autre soin jusques ici que de nous soustraire nos alliés. . . . Il n’y a sortes d’artifices que les alliés ne pratiquent pour empêcher l’effet de nos négociations.”

271 Bacon (Francis) Sylva Sylvarum, or, a Naturall Historie in Ten Centuries, written by the Right Honourable Francis Lo. Verulam, Viscount St. Alban, published after the Author's death by William Rawley, Doctor of Divinitie, late his Lordships Chaplaine, FIRST EDITION, original calf, rebaked
Printed by F. H. for William Lee at the Turks Head in Fleet Street, next to the Miter, 1627

* * This is the first edition of one of the most remarkable books ever written. An additional circumstance in favour of this, the first edition, is, that it contains the most brilliant impression of the last portrait of Bacon. There is no name of engraver, but the frontispiece, which is also remarkably clear, bears that of Thomas Cecill. Rawley, the editor of the publication, which was posthumous, alludes in his dedication to Bacon's intended History of Henry VIII, and reminds us that portions of the present work had already appeared during the writer's lifetime in his volume De Ventis, etc. Bacon intended the whole of the Sylva Sylvarum to be a Third Part of the Instauratio Magna, 1620.

273 [BROWNE (Sir Thomas)] Religio Medici, Manuscript, in an early 17th century writing, on 126 pages of paper, commencing on recto of first leaf beneath the title, and ending on reverse of folio 63 with the word 'TEAOΣ.' (circa 1633)

* * A MANUSCRIPT OF HIGH IMPORTANCE, having been written some years before the appearance of the first surreptitious edition of 1642. Sir Thomas Browne is known to have written three manuscripts, each differing from the other. When he resolved to disown the printed copy, the destruction of these manuscript originals was essential to the success of his repudiation. That he was careful to remove all trace of them is evident from Wilkins' examination of the author's MS., scarcely a fragment of the work remaining. The orthography of the present manuscript is more antique, and the punctuation and paragraph arrangement altogether different from the first printed version, and, of still higher importance, it has more than eight hundred variant readings, not counting innumerable minor differences, obvious typographical errors, etc. These, more or less, decisively point to its being anterior to the one used by the printer. Take three instances: words are attributed to St. Peter which were spoken by St. Paul, and it is corrected (p. 24) in the printed version; the Powder Treason passage on p. 37 of the latter reads thus in the MS., "Twas not a meere chance to discover the Powder Treason contriued by a miscarriage in the letter." The present MS. is without the final sentence to be found in all the collated MSS. and printed editions, it ends with the previous sentence. There were four MSS. known to be extant (including that in the Bodleian and the imperfect one in the British Museum) when Wilkins published his edition. He collated them all, and came to the conclusion that they, together with the surreptitious editions, contain the author's private soliloquies, and the later issues his public opinions. The present MS. has lain obscured for over two centuries and a-half in a bound volume of historical pieces, bearing dates from 1613 to 1631. In all probability it represents an earlier version of the work than any known up to the present.

* * This must be regarded as an exceedingly interesting historical document because of the account it contains of the trial and condemnation of Shakespeare's chief patron and devoted friend Henry Earl of Southampton. It is probably the earliest existing account of the famous trial.

* * * THIS IS THE LONGEST AND at the same time the MOST IMPORTANT NAPOLEON MANUSCRIPT which is known to have occurred for sale. This extremely important State Paper covers 3 pages LARGE FOLIO, and is very closely written. It agrees almost word for word with the famous dispatch of 18th January, 1797, which Napoleon sent to the French Government, reporting a succession of victories over the Austrian forces under General Alvinczi near Verona. These victories practically decided Napoleon's campaign, though it was not finally settled till the surrender of Mantua on the 2nd of February. This Proclamation was written just after the Battle of Rivoli, which was the crowning episode of Napoleon's great Italian campaign. Near the end of the dispatch, which was sent by Napoleon on the 18th January, is the following paragraph : "L'armée de la République a donc en quatre jours remporté deux batailles rangées, et six combats, fait pres de 25,000 prisonniers . . . pris 20 drapeaux, 60 pièces de canon et tué ou blessé du moins 6,000 hommes." On comparing this dispatch with the concluding lines of page 2 of the present Manuscript it will be found to agree almost entirely, the chief exception being that the Manuscript is in the form of a proclamation, or a eulogistic address, by Napoleon to his soldiers, whereas the quoted paragraph is taken from a formal dispatch. The lines of the Manuscript referred to are : "Vous avez en 4 jours remporté 2 batailles, 6 combats et fait 25 mille prisonniers, 28 drapeaux, etc." Napoleon, however, in all probability decided not to issue this or any proclamation till the campaign was quite finished. He did issue one on the 10th of March, the second paragraph of which runs as follows : "Vous avez remporté la victoire dans quatorze batailles rangées et soixante dix combats. Vous avez fait plus de cent mille prisonniers, pris à l'ennemi cinq cent pièces de canons de batailles." Compare this with the second paragraph of page 1 of the present Manuscript.

292 SHAKESPEARE. PART OF STOWE'S SURVEY OF LONDON, WITH MANY ADDITIONS BY A. MUNDAY, etc. CONTEMPORARY MANUSCRIPT of Extracts from the Edition of 1633, half bound (circa 1633)

* * * At the end of the Stowe portion of this manuscript will be found a remarkably early and most curious account of Shakespeare. This eulogy on Shakespeare is given in extenso because the present MS. seems to have entirely escaped the numerous biographers of the Poet.

"The worthy Poet, Mr. William Shakespeare, the Glory of the English Stage, was born at Stratford upon Avon, in Warwickshire.

"Many were the wit combats betwixt him and Ben Johnson, which two we may compare to a Spanish great Gallion, and an Englishman of War. Mr. Johnson (like the former) was built far higher in Learning, solid but slow in his performances: Shakespeare with the Englishman of War, lesser in bulk but higher in sailing, could turn with all Tides, tack about and take advantage of all winds, by the quickness of his wit and invention. This our famous comedian died, Anno Domini 16— and was buried at Stratford-upon-Avon, the Town of his nativity upon whom one hath bestowed this Epitaph:

Renowned Spenser, lye a thought more nigh
To learned Chaucer, and rare Beaumont lye
A little nearer Spenser, to make room
For Shakespear in your threefold fourfold Tomb
To lodge all four in one Bed make a shift
Until Doomsday, for hardly will a fifth
Betwixt this day and that by Fates be slain,
For whom your curtains may be drawn again
If your precedency in death do bar,
A fourth place in your Sacred Sepulchar;
Under this Sacred Marble of thine own
Sleep rare Tragedian Shakespeare! Sleep alone.
Thy unmolested peace in an unshar'd cave,
Possess us Lord not Tenant of thy Grave.
That unto us, and others it may be
Honour hereafter to be laid by thee.

It is surely a remarkable fact that seventeen years after Shakespeare's death both the year of his birth and the year of his death should have been unknown to our anonymous author. Basse's famous poem on Shakespeare seems to differ somewhat from the hitherto recorded versions, the 11th line especially.

This important volume was formerly in the possession of the famous antiquary William Herbert, who notes on the fly-leaf:

"This Manuscript appears for the most part to be a Transcript, by some indefatigable contemporary writer, from the 1st Folio Edition of Stowe's Survey printed 1633; but besides totally altering the arrangement and making many additions, there are various original pieces; together with the substance of some scarce tracts relating to London, particularly The Fatal Vespers at Black Friars, Narrative of the Rebellion of Wat Tyler and Jack Straw, etc.

"The principal Heads or Subjects under which the information is ranked are as follows: Fitzstephen's Account of London; Examples of Great Housekeeping; Notices of Antient Metropolitan

"There are added as a conclusion of the volume, the lives of various eminent persons, immediately or more remotely connected with London, as Constantine (who first built the walls), Edward the Confessor, William the Conqueror, Thomas à Becket, Camden, etc. and some of these contain a good deal of new information."

OCTAVO ET INFRA.

- 439 FROBISHER (SIR MARTIN) THE GREAT ELIZABETHAN ADMIRAL AND NAVIGATOR, HIS AUTOGRAPH CONTAINED IN HIS COPY OF MACHIAVELLI, old calf Palermo, 1584

* * Frobisher's extremely excessively rare autograph is written upon the fly-leaf of this copy of Machiavelli's Works, printed at Palermo in 1584. The famous navigator presented this copy of Machiavelli to his friend, George Day, in 1585, and at the same time wrote with his own hand the following inscription upon the fly-leaf: "TO MAJSTER GEORGE DAYE THIS BOOKE OF MACHIAVELL HIS WOORKES FFROM HIS GRTE [GREAT] FFRENDE MARTIN FFROBISHER, YE 26 MARCH, 1585." Sir Martin Frobisher's autograph is of superlative rarity, and hardly exists, apart from the National Collections. As regards the volume itself, its preservation is admirable, and the binding which preserves it is just as it was when in Sir Martin Frobisher's possession. It is an interesting fact that just as Frobisher (in 1588) fought against the Armada, so his friend George Day (to whom he gave his copy of Machiavelli) figures in the list of those Essex gentlemen who contributed money towards the cost of England's defence at that stirring period. Day subscribed £25, February, 1588.

* * From the Gaignat collection. This manuscript is on fine vellum, and occupies fifty leaves "en lettres romain et bâtarde." The first page is decorated with an extremely beautiful painting, in the centre of which is the title written in letters of blue and gold. This most delightful little volume is ornamented with twenty-six large initial letters of gold, around which are entwined fruits, flowers and other ornaments. Pierre Rousselet, the pupil of Jarry, whose work is quite equal in beauty and correctness to that of his master, executed several important MSS. after the death of Jarry. The present example, "Prières durant la Messe," is as fine in point of quality as any he executed. It is in Roman character chiefly, but intermixed with italic.

- 486 HORAE B. V. M. XIV

* * * This has been a very fine English MS. Book of Hours, of Salisbury (or York?) use; and is still interesting from the REMARKABLE CHARACTER OF ITS MINIATURES and decorations. It has the Offices for S. Thomas à Becket and Thomas of Lancaster. The Calendar is complete with the usual English Saints. Some of the miniatures are damaged, and one is cut from a leaf in the lives of Saints. The subjects of the full-page miniatures are: A full-length figure of Christ exhibiting his wounds, within a border of Saints' heads in compartments; The Annunciation; The Shepherds; Arrival at Bethlehem of the Magi on horseback; The Crucifixion (Mary and John); Head of Christ surrounded by the emblems of the Four Evangelists, birds in tree above; Death of the Virgin; an Allegorical Representation of the Seven Deadly Sins; Saint Anne and the B. V.; St. Helen and another; SS. John Baptist and John Evangelist (these miniatures have no text and the four first are on 2 ll.); SS. Peter and Paul; Martyrdom of Thomas à Becket; Elevation of the Host (the last three have text on reverse). On fol. 79 begins a poem in French in praise of the B. V. M. A full MS. description of the MS. by J. T. Micklethwaite, and an account of the arms which are emblazoned on the first leaf of text, by J. S. Waller, accompany the MS.

SÆC. XIV

* * * A FINELY WRITTEN MANUSCRIPT of the Speculum Historiale of Vincent de Beauvais, in French. THE NUMBER AND QUALITY OF THE MINIATURES, EVIDENTLY THE WORK OF ONE OF THE BEST FRENCH MINIATURISTS OF THE PERIOD, ARE REMARKABLE. They are all on rich diapered or chequered backgrounds and are rich with gold. They represent the Costumes of the Period, Military, Ecclesiastical, Religious and Domestic; sixty of them represent Battles between armoured soldiers. The other subjects are the Creation, Hebrew and Roman Battles, Life of Christ, Figures and Martyrdoms of the Saints, Destruction of Idols, fine groups of Angels, Devils, etc. The colours used are blue, red (ochre), crimson, white, brown, chaf pink, yellow and black. Some of the figures are in a sort of grisaille. The MS. ends incompletely with the unfinished Life and Martyrdom of S. Rufinus, it probably wants also 2 ll. in the body of the text, and twenty of the miniatures are damaged.

Now I wish Brown and you to be the first paid Creditors—the rest is in nubibus—but in case it should shower pay my Taylor the few pounds I owe him."

The letter and paper are endorsed by John Taylor as follows:—

"Enclosed in this letter I received a testamentary Paper in John Keats's handwriting, without date, on which I have indorsed a memorandum to this effect, for the purpose of identifying it; and for better security it is hereunto annexed.

22 Sept. 1820. John Taylor."

"My dear Sir,—I TAKE THIS FIRST OPPORTUNITY OF SENDING TO YOU A LITTLE SKETCH OF OUR DEAR FRIEND KEATS, THE ONLY ONE I HAVE DONE FROM THE LIFE. I remember you told me in your last letter that you 'would prefer anything done from the life to a mere copy.' I have another, but it is a posthumous portrait, which I shall keep myself now that I send you this. I have sent you 2 letters without hearing from you—have you received them? One was respecting Keats's Memoir. Pray tell me about it when you have an hour's leisure. The view of the place where he is buried is too large to send by Mr. Vendramini, who is so kind to bear this for me..... P. S. WITH A DRAWING OF J. KEATS AND SOME HAIR."

The portrait is in sepia on a piece of cardboard, $5\frac{1}{8}$ in. by $3\frac{1}{2}$ in. and at the bottom in Severn's handwriting, "28 Jany. 3 o'clock mornng. drawn to keep me awake, a deadly sweat was on him all this night."
